

SPECTIS MOULDERS

Manufacturers of both Polyurethane and PVC

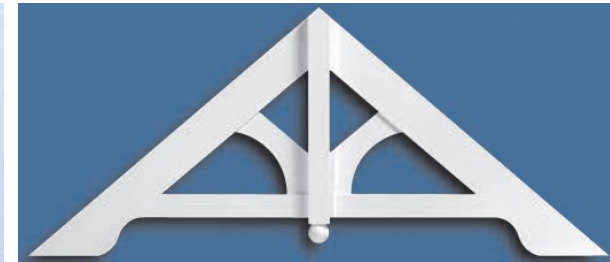

At Spectis Moulders, the majority of our products are moulded polyurethane but we also offer select standard and custom products in PVC. This gives us the flexibility to decide which material provides the best value, design and application for your project.

As you are aware, all building materials struggled with inventory and pricing in 2021. Even through numerous price increases and inventory shortages, Spectis Moulders has continued on with both moulded polyurethane and PVC fabrication.

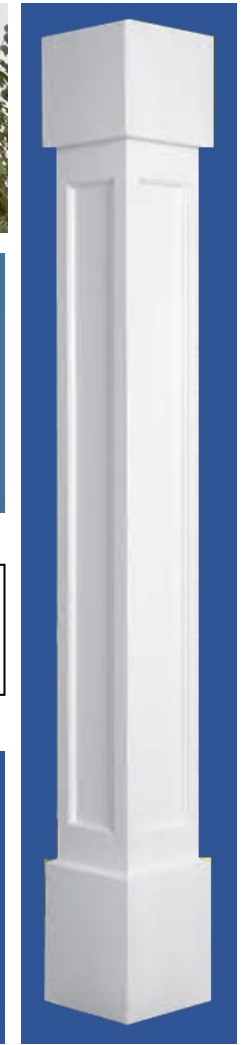

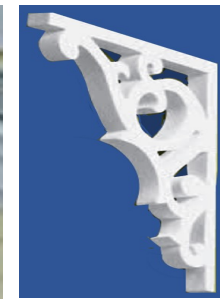

With projects that have higher volume or ornate detailing, polyurethane is the material to use. Project requests with fewer items that are a more simplistic design can be more cost effective to be made with PVC.

Both polyurethane and PVC are excellent for exterior and interior use. Once installed and painted with a good quality acrylic latex paint, our polyurethane and PVC products are virtually maintenance free. Spectis Moulders will offer you the most economical and functional solution to meet your requirements and we would love to let you know whether polyurethane or PVC would be best for your project.

Always delivering the product excellence you have come to expect from Spectis Moulders
